

Robert loves to travel, having visited 43 states and 10 countries thus far. Robert is a New Englander at heart, born and raised; but is willing, somewhat begrudgingly, to admit that many of the Yankee stereotypes hold true to himself. Outside of work you can find him at home building something – usually involving timber framing, at the ice rink with his son, or at the sugarhouse either making or marketing maple products. Robert currently sits on the board of the Henniker Youth Hockey Association.
